Note: The priest erred in the baptism record for Jesus Maria Gurulé and entered the Gonzales surname for the father, thus it also showed Gonzales for the child. He could have gotten confused as the padrino was also named Jesus Gonzales. After years of research and help from Agapito Alarid, one of the descendants from this line, the “compadrazgo” relationship among family members has been proven to include this line in family #1.

Note: Olmsted's research showed this son, married to Maria Antonia Herrera, was the son of Serafin Gurulé and Maria Gertrudes Aragon. No marriage record has been found, nor do any of the baptisms identify grandparents to help prove the lineage. In Jan 2023, the Y-700 DNA testing revealed the progenitor of this line is actually Tomas, the brother of Serafin. Based on these findings, this line now appears under Tomas Gurulé. The other Antonio Jose Gurulé, baptized 6 Aug 1775, remains under Serafin Gurulé, with no further findings.
